RUSSIANS MUCH DISCOURAGED

Disasters in the Far East Have Turned the Minds of Many of the Leaders of the Empire--Are Discouraged.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

St. Petersburg, May 12.—Viceroy Alexey telegraphed this preparatory to the evacuation of Dairen all docks and material that would be useful to the enemy were being blown up.

Tokio, May 12.—The rumor is current here that the outer defenses of Port Arthur have been taken by the Japanese troops and that the final assault is only a matter of a few hours. The land forces are said to have been assisted by a fierce bombardment of the port and the batteries defending it on the land side by Togo's fleet. Officials will neither deny nor confirm the report and there is a lack of particulars.

Hard Fighting

Chefoo, May 12.—Hard fighting all along the line is reported from Manchuria. General Kuroki's column, according to well authenticated reports, has succeeded in forcing the Russians back from Mollen Pass after desperate fighting, in which both sides lost heavily. The report that General Sasulitch, who commanded the army of the Yalu, was killed during the fighting is believed to be true. According to reports received here the fighting at Mollen Pass lasted two days. The Russian rear guard, in strong positions, fought the first day's battle, but their positions were turned one by one, the Japanese showing a wonderful ability to move infantry and artillery over ground supposed to be impassable for troops. Reinforcements, however, came up from Liao Yang and the battle assumed almost the proportions of a general engagement, the Japanese slowly but surely forcing the Russians back, inflicting and receiving heavy loss. Whether the fighting has ceased for the time is not known. It had not up to the time the last word from the front reached here, but the Japanese force was constantly growing, as new troops came up and were sent on the firing line and their advance was steady.

It is regarded as possible that Kurapatkin may have sent all his force to meet Kuroki at Mollen, and that the long-looked for general engagement is now being fought.

Unconfirmed reports reach here that an attempt was made last night by the Japanese to take Port Arthur by assault. This report has not been confirmed and is not generally believed, though it is true that the Japanese warships are shelling Port Arthur.

Drive Out Garrison

Tien Tsin, May 12.—A report has reached here through Chinese sources that the Russian garrison at Hal Cheng has been driven from that place, by a division of General Kuroki's army, which advanced along the road from Mohojalpe and made the Russian position untenable. The Russians are said to have fallen back on Liao Yang. Nothing is known here regarding the casualties. This division is now expected to advance to New Chwang and aid the fourth army in landing near Yinkow.

TEMPESTUOUS TIMES IN INDIANA CAUCUS

Two Complete Sets of Delegates Are Likely to Be Sent to the National Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—Indiana is more than likely to have two full sets of delegates knocking for admission at the doors of the Democratic national convention at St. Louis. Completely outnumbered by the Parker forces, the Hearst men in four congressional district caucuses bolted and elected rival delegates, and immediately the word went down all along the Hearst line to follow suit. Hence a bolt at the state convention is regarded as certain.

The scenes attending several of the caucuses were extremely riotous. Inflamed with the bitterness of intense partisanship, men fought, raved and cursed like mad men. The Hearst delegates who did not have tickets attempted to force their way into the halls where the meetings were held. In a few instances they were successful.

A sufficient number of Hearst people gained admission to both the Tenth and Second district caucuses to start and maintain a pandemonium as soon as the Parker people opened proceedings. Regular and orderly transaction of the business at hand was utterly out of the question. The Parker men were put in as chairmen, and then the Parker states of delegates and convention officers were read. No one heard the names read, and the votes taken were mockeries of parliamentary procedure. Appearances indicate that the Parker people were in the majority, and on that showing the district organizations declared the Parker slates elected, and so reported to the state headquarters.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

The gross postal receipts for April, 1904, at the fifty largest postoffices in the country aggregated $5,330,819, a net increase of $439,658 over the previous April. The gross postal receipts of New York city and of Chicago each increased 8 per cent. Commissioner Richards of the general land office today directed that the sale of the Red Lake reservation lands at Thief River Falls, Minn., begin June 20 instead of on June 15, the date originally fixed.

Charles H. Robb of Vermont, former assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, has assumed his new duties as assistant attorney general at the department of justice.

Secretary Cortelyou addressed the American Cotton Manufacturers' association at its eighth annual meeting yesterday. President Roosevelt will receive the delegates today.

Charles S. Lohmeyer, a young Omaha attorney, has been appointed a judge of the court of first instance in the Philippines by Secretary Taft. The resignation of Lieut. William A. Roberts, Jr., of the Fourteenth infantry, stationed in the Philippines, has been announced.

present at Kharkoff May 23d, to take part in the leave of the tenth army corps, which will then start for the seat of war in the far east. It is again stated on good authority that the czar has determined to go to the front and receive baptism of fire according to the tradition of his house. The object is to inspire the soldiers and not to interfere with military operations.

General Killed

Paris, May 12.—A well authenticated report reaches here from St. Petersburg that General Sasulitch was killed in Tuesday's big fight near Mollen Pass between the Russians and General Kuroki's army. The Russians, it is said, lost heavily.

More Fighting

Shanghai, May 12.—A rumor is current here today that fighting is proceeding south east of New Chwang.

Good Service

Denver, Col., May 12.—Tokichi Endo, chief engineer of the Nankai Railway company of Japan, and G. Shiba, assistant engineer and consulting engineer for the first division of the Japanese army, have been found in Denver by Japanese government officials, and ordered to sail for Japan. In their zeal to study the railroads of the United States they have long outstayed their leave in this country, and since May 1, cablegrams and secret agents have been following them throughout the country in an endeavor to deliver an order instructing them to join the army at once.

More Money

Tokio, May 12.—At a cabinet meeting yesterday it was decided to float another popular loan of $50,000,000 at 95, redeemable in five years; with interest at 5 per cent, payment to be in ten installments, beginning June, 1905. An imperial ordinance providing for the loan will be issued about May 20.

Russian Transport Blown Up

St. Petersburg, May 12.—Another Russian vessel has been destroyed by Russian mines. The general naval staff has issued a list of twenty names of officers and men who were killed on board the torpedo transport Amur April 25. The issuance of this list discloses that the Amur was laying mines in the roadstead at Port Arthur on that day. She struck a mine and sank.

Posselt, Siberia, May 12.—A Japanese torpedo-boat made its appearance in the roadstead Monday and suspicious lights have been seen. Everything is quiet here, but all is in readiness to meet any landing of the enemy whose probable purpose is the cutting off of Vladivostok.

Shanghai, May 12.—It is reported from Peking that the Japanese on Monday occupied Kai-Ping, sixteen miles below Tashichiao and that they expected to occupy New-Chawang Friday.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—General Kurapatkin has telegraphed to the emperor that a train loaded with war material from Liao-Yang has arrived at Port Arthur.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

New York, May 12.—A cable from Rio De Janeiro in Brazil states the fighting has begun between the Brazilians and Peruvians over a boundary dispute. A battle in the upper Purna valley by Col. Arrijo, with two hundred men who were attacked at Santo Rosa but forced to retire after four hours fighting. Brazilians lost many wounded. Diplomatic negotiations still progressing. Brazil is disposed to arbitrate.

HICKS PREDICTS SEVERE STORMS

WARNS AGAINST POSSIBLE VIOLENT STORMS IN FUTURE.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—The outlook is either Lowden or Deenen will be chosen head of the state ticket. In event these two cannot agree attorney General Hamlin may be selected. Little likelihood of a vote on Governor until tomorrow. Senators Cullom and Hopkins and speaker Cannon have been decided on as electors at large. The fourth is in doubt.

Rev. Ira W. Hicks, the weather prognosticator, predicts a number of severe storms during this month and warns people to take precautionary measures against possible violence from tornadoes. The predictions for the month are as follows:

About the 14th look for a change to warmer, the barometer will again fall to low readings, and another series of rain, wind and thunder storms will take up their eastward march across the country, culminating on and touching the 14th, 15th and 16th. As this as well as other May periods, if the air is warm and humid, with low and falling barometer, no gathering storms should be allowed to approach without careful watch on the situation.

Great and sudden reversions from warm to unseasonably cool are characteristics of the Venus perturbations, and when these Venus periods fall in the month of May, the wildest electrical storms are often followed by surprising changes to cold and frost.

The next return of storm conditions will be from the 20th to 23d. If your barometer is low—a thing most likely at this time—accept the indication as a warning of dangerous storms and govern yourself accordingly. Another change to quite cool for the season will come with the high barometer behind these storms.

The last storm period for the month is central on the 26th, covering the 24th to 28th. This period will come in with rising temperature, the barometer will fall decidedly in all western parts by the 26th, and during the 27th, 28th and 29th, most parts of the country will be touched by active storms in their eastward sweep across the country.

As to the general outlook for May, we believe that it will be up to, or above the average warmth. There will be much bright and pleasant weather between the periods of severe storms. Excessive Venus rainfalls, with destructive hailstorms in many sections, may reasonably be expected, though these rainfalls will be largely confined to central, western and southern sections. All parts will have moisture sufficient for present needs, but large areas will approach the summer period, verging on to drought conditions.

POWDER PLAYS GREAT HAVOC

Six Kegs of Blasting Powder Cost Four Men Their Lives--Two Score Burned.

VICTIMS SUFFER GREAT AGONY

Daring Rescue of the Victims by Fellow Workers--Awful Scenes at the Place of the Accident Late Yesterday.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

Marion, Ill., May 12.—Shut out from rescue parties by a wall of fire, two score of miners suffered untold agonies Wednesday as the result of an explosion in shaft No. 7 of the Big Muddy Coal and Iron company's mine at Herrin, Williamson county, near here. Of the forty miners caught in the burning mine four were killed and twenty injured. The injured were all severely burned, before a rescuing party forced its way through smoke and flames to them. It is feared that most of them will die.

Following is the list of killed and injured:

Spark Ignites Powder.

The cause of the disaster in the mine was the explosion of six kegs of gunpowder, which was to be used for blasting purposes. The gunpowder was being lowered into the mine when a spark from an electric wire communicated with it.

There was a terrific explosion, the sound of which was heard for miles around, and then smoke and flames issued from the mouth of the shaft, while scorched and bleeding men rushed out of the mine, their clothes ablaze.

All of the miners were not able to escape from the pit unassisted, however. The explosion occurred near the mouth of the shaft, and the wood-work in the mine having become ignited, a wall of flame separated forty of the men in the underground passageways from outer air and safety. Caught in a veritable inferno, the miners, most of whom had been injured by the explosion, struggled to sustain life until rescuers could reach them.

Miners Are Brave.

Fortunately they did not have to wait long. As soon as the panic occasioned by the explosion had ended the miners who had reached the surface started to relieve their comrades buried below. They were encouraged in their efforts by the frantic voices of the imprisoned miners, who, rushing to the mouth of the shaft as soon as they heard the noise of the explosion, urged on the rescuers.

Some of the women would have entered the mine themselves if they had not been prevented from doing so by the miners, who would not permit them to venture into what they believed to be a death chamber.

While they feared for the women, the miners did not fear for themselves. Men who had been injured by the explosion joined with the others who had escaped unhurt in an attempt to reach their dying comrades. While the flames were still forming a barricade between the buried men and those outside the rescuers forced their way past the blazing timbers into the passageways in which they knew the entombed men had been at work.

Run Gantlet of Fire.

The clothes of the rescuers caught fire, their flesh was scorched, and the hair of their eyebrows and eyelashes singed, but they persisted in their duty to their fellow workmen. Gropping their way through the smoke, which almost suffocated them, they finally reached the injured men. With the assistance of some of those who could walk the rescuers picked up the mangled workmen and again ran the gantlet of fire. One by one the injured men were carried from the mouth of the pit, to be tenderly cared for and nursed by their grief-stricken wives and relatives.

While some of the miners had been engaged in the rescue work others had been engaged in quenching the flames. Before the last injured miner had been carried from the mine the fire was out, and the work of carrying out the injured was rendered simple.

The four men who were instantly killed by the explosion were in that part of the mine in which the explosion occurred. Their bodies were mangled almost beyond recognition.

Powder Man Is Killed.

John Miller, who had charge of the powder that caused the explosion, was one of the killed, and to the manner in which the accident occurred will probably never be known.

There are several theories as to how the explosion occurred. The most generally accepted of these is that Miller had taken six kegs of blasting powder into the lift which carries the men down to work. When the lift reached the bottom he is supposed to have failed to distribute the powder immediately.

In the meantime the men who operated the machinery believed that the powder had been distributed and turned on the electric power which runs the machinery located near the lift. A spark from one of the electric wires is thought to have communicated with the powder and the explosion followed.

Miller's body was the first to be found by the men who entered the pit to rescue the injured. It was literally torn to pieces. Near Miller's body was found that of Evan Williams. Four injured men and two more dead ones were found within a few feet of Williams and the man who had charge of the powder.

MARCHING CLUB AS IN OLD DAYS

Madison Is to Have a Revival of Old Pagan Rites of Dark Political Days.

Madison, Wis.—A William Randolph Hearst democratic club has been organized in Madison that has for its purpose the good, old fashioned style of campaigning that was effective in the campaigns that placed Grover Cleveland twice in the white house at Washington. The club organized by the election of Attorney Noel A. Lind as president and Paul Morgan secretary. The club professes its existence upon the assumption that the New York congressman will be the choice of the democracy of Wisconsin and the nominee of the national convention in St. Louis. Uniforms and modern illuminating paraphernalia will be secured as soon as the proper time arrives and at the Hearst political rallies in southern Wisconsin this club will be present marching in processions and assisting in swelling the tide of enthusiasm. It is also planned to organize a number of similar clubs in various parts of the state and to take part in the campaign in whatever manner will be deemed effective.

TWO YEARS IN PEN FOR ERNEST BLUHM

Swift Justice Meted Out to Man Who Attacked Defenseless Woman Yesterday Morning.

Two years in the state's prison in Waupun was the punishment meted out to "Mouse" Bluhm by Judge Field in municipal court this morning. The chain of evidence connecting him with the attempted assault on Mrs. Nora O'Brien at an early hour Wednesday morning was so strong that he decided to plead guilty. When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced Bluhm contented himself with a single statement that he was under the influence of liquor at the time. The maximum sentence for his offense is ten years. On his plea of guilty the judge gave him two. Bluhm is a married man about thirty-five years of age. He was with Thomas Joyce on the night of the Zimmerman murder and the defense in the trial tried to fasten the crime on him.

THE PRINCESS GAVE AID TO POOR
Notorious Woman of St. Paul Leaves Half Her Fortune to Charity.
St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—"The Princess," a woman of the underworld whose deeds of kindness and open-hearted charity have been famous for nearly twenty years, died suddenly of heart failure. Her death discloses the fact that she has a daughter in a fashionable private school at Georgetown, D. C., who does not know of the life her mother led. To the daughter she leaves half of a fortune estimated at $200,000. The remainder goes to charity. The late Gov. Ramsey, who knew her, said of her: "Her life is known to me. Her deeds entitle her to respect and should be emulated by every Christian man. Fallen though she was, few of God's people followed Christ's precepts more closely."

INDIANA APPORTIONMENT HIT

State Supreme Court Holds Act of 1903 Is Unconditional.
Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—The Supreme court of Indiana has handed down a decision holding the legislative apportionment act of 1903 unconstitutional. The case was one in which there was a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the election of members of the general assembly to be held under the apportionment of 1897. The court directs that the election of members of the general assembly next fall be made under the act of 1897 and this removes the danger of having no constitutional act under which to conduct the election.

Fred Ziemann Slashes Her Throat and Then His Own.
Menominee, Mich., May 12.—Fred Ziemann of Neenah, Wis., murdered his wife by cutting her throat with a razor, then he half severed his own head with the same weapon. The crime was done in the house of James Smith, brother-in-law of the dead woman. Mrs. Ziemann came from Neenah a week ago with her three small children, having lived there all winter with her mother, Mrs. Christina Struss. She came to live with her sister, Mrs. James Smith. She left her husband last fall because he drank all his wages up and did not support her. He tracked her to her brother-in-law's house and calling asked for her only to end a short conversation with the crime.

Average growth 1 1/4 in. per month for twenty consecutive months.
By permission we herewith reproduce photograph of Miss Sarah MacComb, a lady who has lived in Chicago all her life and is well known in the city, especially on the South Side. Her hair before she commenced the use of Danderine would not reach below her waist, while now it reaches to her knees when she stands erect. This remarkable growth is the result of using Danderine, the grandest of all hair and scalp tonics, regularly as a dressing.

It Gave Her Hair New Life
and will do the same for you. If you give it a fair trial, Danderine puts new life and vigor in both the hair and scalp. It makes the hair fluffy, silky, and there seems to be no limit to the growth it will produce. There is no other that can be compared to it, as it is founded on new ideas altogether.

SHE IS WILLING TO SWEAR TO IT.
By request of Miss MacComb we reproduce the following letter:
KNOWLEDGE DANDERINE CO., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen:—I am writing you many inquiries regarding that tonic that you are now running showing my picture, that I am sending you this letter for the benefit of the public that you may reproduce it, and I will state under oath if I have desired that I used Danderine for twenty consecutive months and the average growth of my hair was one and one-fourth inches per month, making a total of twenty-five inches in twenty months. You are at liberty to use this letter under oath my picture, and by so doing will save me the trouble of answering a large number of inquiries which I am receiving daily. Sincerely, Sarah MacComb.

This is the opportunity which usually comes in August. However, explanations are unnecessary; suffice to say that from a life of fifty or more new, nobby Suits, every one of this season's manufacture, you can make a selection at twelve dollars and a half. As you will probably take a trip this summer, you might as well prepare in advance, then when you visit the St. Louis Exposition or any other point you will have the right thing. Many of the desirable fancy mixtures are in the line, also the plain colors—navy, brown and black. Certainly great bargains at such a price—$12. Alterations are free.

One well known critic in reviewing Mr. Charles B. King's Pharmacy and The Peoples Drug Company Will Pay for Hyomel Themselves When It Falls to Cure Catarrh.
"If I only knew it to be true, I would not hesitate a moment." This is a thought the average person has when reading the claims of some of the medicines that are advertised as cures for catarrh.

The results from the use of Hyomel are so remarkable in the cure of catarrh, that they seem beyond belief. The fact, though that King's Pharmacy and The Peoples Drug Company, the best known drug firms in this section, have so much confidence in the power of Hyomel to cure catarrh that they sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchasers can say that it did not help them, ought to convince the most skeptical that Hyomel can be relied upon to cure all catarrhal troubles, no matter how serious or deep-seated.

The complete Hyomel outfit, consisting of a neat inhaler that can be carried in the purse or pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomel, costs only one dollar. Additional bottles of Hyomel can be procured for fifty cents, making it the most economical of treatments.

Catarrhal colds, which are so common at this season of the year, have been cured in a day. Mild cases of catarrh that have become chronic are frequently cured in a week or ten days. Now is the time to begin the use of Hyomel, remembering that King's Pharmacy and The Peoples Drug Company sell every package on a positive guarantee to refund the money if it fails to cure.

REFORM METHODS.

A dispatch from Madison says: "The administration of 'reform' is overlooking no bet. It is doing its utmost to work delegates elected as opposed to La Folletteism over into 'reformers.' This style of work is being attempted in Milwaukee. One of the 'reformers' connected with the bank examiner's office, it is boasted here today, has been busy 'examining' delegates in Milwaukee, and it is claimed that he has worked over seven men elected as opposed to La Folletteism into 'reformers.' This is a sample of claims being made.

But Milwaukee is not the only place where 'reform' is working hard to steal delegates. It is known that game wardens and all inspectors have raved around in the west district of Fond du Lac county, making all kinds of offers for delegates to change to the cause of 'reform.' There is nothing in the way of statement or offer that is not made to swing delegates chosen to oppose 'reform' into line for it. But it has not made any headway in Fond du Lac county.

In Dodge county, where the conventions are to be held today, the same tactics were used. Every effort has been made in both districts to get a few delegates for 'reform.' The situation is close there in both districts, but the anti-third term forces control. If 'reform' could just get a few delegates away from the anti-third term men, it would control, and no offer that is supposed to do business in such cases has been left unmade in the name of 'reform.'

All this goes to show 'reform' is taking no chances. It is very nervous about the outcome and will win by any means known to politics if it can. This is the sort of reform that has cursed the state for the past four years, and that will continue to curse it for two years to come, if the Governor is permitted to carry out his program. It is a hollow sham, masquerading under the guise of righteousness. The methods pursued would put Tammany to blush in the palmiest days of boss Tweed. The republicans of the state owe it to themselves to arise en-masse, and denounce this species of villainy.

STEALING A CONVENTION.

The third termers talk as glibly about stealing the convention, if occasion demands, as they would about traveling on railroad passes if they had the opportunity. It matters not to them what the majority of public sentiment expresses on the subject, the governor must be renominated at all hazards.

This sort of high-handed politics may be all right in Kentucky but it won't be tolerated in Wisconsin.

Majorities are supposed to rule, in this free country, and the will of the majority is always recognized as the will of the people.

The methods adopted by the administration are revolutionary and thoughtful people throughout the state so regard them. The Gazette has long maintained that the Governor is a dangerous leader, and the fact today is so apparent, that it is generally conceded.

His Milwaukee organ, which is supposed to be his mouthpiece, outlines the policy to be pursued and it is a menace to the state. Should the conservative element have a clean majority of fifty, an effort will be made to wipe it out by seating enough contested delegates to overcome it. The slightest pretext is all that is necessary for a contest, and rump conventions are the order of the day. It remains to be seen whether this sort of a program can be carried out. It hardly seems possible that the Governor's friends, however loyal they may be, will become a party to this sort of politics.

THE HOG THE FARMERS' BANK.

All prognostications for the future of business which are made today are with tacit understanding that many elements of the situation have been changed since previous periods with which the present is compared. On the one hand, and most obviously the industries of the country have been very largely organized into great capitalistic combinations, responding most sensitively to stock market conditions, thus tending to bring the industries themselves more than heretofore within the influence of the hysteria of the great markets, which rate the values of the properties in their daily price quotations. On the other hand, there has been a change, perhaps less obvious, yet more potent, in the methods of the farmer, fortifying himself against the contingencies of the market. It is well known that he has had prosperity for some years to draw upon, to give him a surplus for the lean years but he has also learned to diversify his crops, and to enter more generally into the raising of cattle. The ranges of the range cattle have been slowly encroached upon, while the cattle grown by farmers have been correspondingly increased. This has not been accidental; it is well explained.

The misfortune of the farmer has always been that he was at the mercy of the market to which he offered his product. To be able to hold back from the market at will for a little time, which the accumulation of a surplus has made possible is the first stage of an economic independence not enjoyed before. The next stage has come when he can convert a demand in the market to another commodity meeting a different class of demand according to the shifting conditions of the market. The American hog, or, more generally stated, the cattle grown by the farmer, serve him in this way. If he does not market his grain this year he can throw it into his cattle, and carry it to meet a demand at a different time, and for a different commodity; namely, for pork or beef.

Bankers deal in credits, as generally stated. The commercial value of a thing which is its convertibility is quite as much a thing of time as an amount. A forced and instant convertibility is an entirely different thing from a convertibility under average market conditions and choice. The banker enables the producer to carry his product to the time of most advantageous convertibility, and the farmer's cattle and hogs serve him in the same way in carrying his unmarketed product to a time and form of the most available convertibility.

It is possible that some of the unexpected features of the recent situation as the persistence of railroad earnings after the failure of a market crop, and the sustained prosperity found in sections not directly in touch with the great market centers are to be explained by methods like this, which are the slow growth of years of the experience the farmers have had since their last hard times. —Wall Street Journal.

That state central committee will have its hands full when the Madison convention is held. Disputed delegations without number will be in order and Bob must win.

There was a lot of money spent in Rock county by some one, not conservatives and it does seem hard they did not even get mentioned among the also runs.

Mat Regan of Madison will be a sort of a special officer at the Democratic convention in St. Louis and Wisconsin delegates are assured they will receive good attention.

St. Louis is having a hard time with its great fair. Liable to be closed because no bond can be obtained that the park will be made presentable again.

These bolts made by La Follette men from county conventions are patterned after the bolts made by Free Silverites in the ninety six campaign.

Nothing original under the sun, La Follette and his Aunt Hannah are managing affairs in the good old Tweed ring way.

The Governor's guards may not think it is half so funny to act policemen when the convention is really over.

Future generations will wonder at the scramble we had for summer when this world is all electric lighted and steam heated.

Now that the republicans have gotten through the democrats will take a whirl at the political wheel.

After all did it pay to try and abuse the conservative element in Rock county?

Politics is a funny game. George W. Peck takes the world as it comes and may be the democratic nomination will come his way.

The latest is that the Japs are watching the Russians blow up their Port Arthur fleet.

New York World: By breaking into an Eastern row China could at least let the world know whether it still arms its soldiers with umbrellas.

Chicago News: Clara Morris is delighted with old age and recommends it to all her friends. One beauty about it is that it costs nothing.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Governor La Follette does not care so much who ought to have the votes of delegates so long as he has the only counting machine that will be used by the convention.

Kenosha Gazette: A New York justice advised a woman to go through her husband's pockets and take all the money she could find. Thus do poor men's enemies arise on every hand.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: The peremptory of Henry James that there are too many births in the United States is mitigated by the knowledge that Hank can't be born again, anyway.

Racine Journal: One of these days we shall have peace in this distracted state, the right of free discussion of public measures restored and the functions of judiciary and legislative unassailed by the executive department.

Racine News: Floating schools, or "water Chautauquas," are the newest thing on the Great Lakes. The pupils can enjoy cool breezes while listening to scientific lectures and munching peanuts.

Milwaukee Journal: The only evidence of harmony among republican papers last night was the unanimous way in which the yeas charge the other fellow with voting democrats and resorting to all the tricks known to political bulldozing and caucus packing.

Hudson Star-Times: Alex. Turner declares La Follette sold out his closest political friend in this congressional district in exchange for two delegates or his choice in the national convention. And the joke is La Follette did not get the delegates.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The policy of the state administration organ, published at Milwaukee, requires black headlines when La Follette is able to carry a county, which was his two years ago. When one of these counties is lost to the opposition, however, the story of how it was "given away" is told modestly in a few lines and with scarcely any headlining at all.

ANOTHER PRIZE STORY PRINTED

A Calamitous Boat-Ride
The day was sunny and bright; the air warm and pleasant. Rock river lay calm and placid beneath the early summer sky. "Just the kind of a day for a boat-ride," said Frank Winston, as he stood on the bank. "Come on, girls," he called, turning and beckoning to two young ladies who sat on a porch at a short distance. "Well, wait till I get my hat," replied Mae Goodrich, while Madge Gilbert ran lightly down the steps and joined Frank at the boat. Mae soon returned and the three set off in high glee, Frank was not a very good oarsman; but what of that? The boat glided smoothly with the current.

"This is lovely," said Madge with a sigh of satisfaction. "Perfect," laughed Mae, letting her hand trail in the water, then with a quick motion dashing some over Frank, who laughed and returned the compliment with the oar. On, down the river went the boat with its merry occupants; but what had happened? The boat is going faster and faster! Monterey bridge is nearly above them. The river had been high that spring and was not low yet. The current which had carried them so gently, now had the light boat in its power and was hurrying it relentlessly toward the dam.

Mae gave a cry of alarm, as she realized their situation, and saw that Frank was powerless to avoid the calamity. It was too late! No assistance could reach them. The roar of the dam seemed deafening as the boat swept toward it.

"Confound the fellow," exclaimed a man on the bridge. "He can't row worth a straw."

The boat had reached the dam, and with horror the bystanders saw it go over and then float bottom upward. Where are the occupants? Frank could swim a little and he managed to keep his head above water, and do the same for Madge, whom he had caught by the dress, as she was sinking. The men were soon on the bank. One of them leaped in, and with a few strong strokes reached Mae, who was sinking the second time and rescued her. He then went to Frank's assistance. Meanwhile another had telephoned for a carriage, and the three dripping young people were hurried to their boarding place, none the worse for their untimely plunge, with the exception of Mae who had lost her new hat and taken cold. The three still hear of their ride over the dam and neither of the girls will go rowing with Frank again until he learns to be a better oarsman.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The reformer is a good man, but he has his limitations. One of them is his difficulty in getting along with the average person. Another is in the lack of tolerance he sometimes has for a world he has come to believe very very wicked. And if that world, or no, declines to be safeguarded by the reformer's particular patent type of moral or social barbed wire fencing, he becomes pessimistic, indeed.

LAST OF THE BIG MEETINGS

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION ASSEMBLED THIS AFTERNOON.

T. S. NOLAN MADE CHAIRMAN

And Bernard Palmer Elected Secretary—Spooner, Quarles, Cooper, and Fethers Endorsed.

Secretary W. A. Jackson called the republican county congressional convention to order at two o'clock this afternoon. After the proxies had been examined and the roll called T. S. Nolan was made chairman of the convention and Bernard M. Palmer secretary. H. L. McNamara moved that a resolution be adopted consisting of three delegates to be appointed by the chair. The following were appointed: H. L. McNamara of Janesville, J. G. Carr of Milton, and W. O. Hanson of Beloit.

First District
The first district chose the following delegates to the congressional convention to be held on May 20—C. S. Burton and Miles Rice of Milton, W. S. Hedges and A. S. Flagg of Edgerton, D. Frank Hedges and E. Van Patten of Evansville, Arthur Franklin of Evansville, S. S. Lee of Evansville, C. E. Langworthy of Fulton, W. G. Alexander of Lima, and U. G. Walker of Rock.

Second District
The following delegates to the Monroe convention were selected by the second assembly district—James Shearer, Oscar Nowlan, Edward F. Carpenter, Charles E. Curtis, and Charles S. Cleland, all of the respective wards of the city in their order; and Ogden H. Fethers, Henry L. McNamara, Alvah L. Heamens, and Frank H. Back, delegates at large.

Third District
The third district delegates are—Cham Ingersoll, E. G. Helm, L. H. Parker, R. J. Burdick, and Frank Martin of Beloit; J. S. Lynch of Broadhead, Ira Cleophas of Beloit, Thomas Inman of Janesville, D. J. Smith of Beloit, John Conley of Clinton, Henry Conley of Clinton, and Herbert Baldwin of Beloit.

Resolutions Passed
The following was offered by the resolutions committee and adopted by unanimous vote: Resolved—That Ogden H. Fethers of Janesville is our choice for delegate to the national convention from this congressional district and we hereby instruct our delegates to the congressional convention to use all honorable methods to secure his election. Upon the passage of this resolution Mr. Fethers was called upon for a speech and made a short address declaring his appreciation of the honor and his abiding faith in Theodore Roosevelt the next nominee for president.

Cooper Is Endorsed
The following were also adopted: The republicans of Rock county in congressional delegate convention assembled declare:
1. They heartily endorse the able, fearless, patriotic and successful administration of President Roosevelt, and they unanimously favor his re-nomination to succeed himself.
2. They are proud of the record made in the senate of the United States by the Hon. John C. Spooner and the Hon. Joseph V. Quarles, and they are glad that the last legislature of Wisconsin, without one dissenting republican vote, re-elected Senator Spooner, and they express their confidence that the next legislature will likewise most justly endorse Senator Quarles.

3. They have watched the career of Hon. Henry A. Cooper in congress with pride and hope. He has advanced in that great body until now he is chairman of the newly established committee of the house, which has to establish its own precedents, mark out its own line of action, and which is directly responsible for the welfare of our recently added island territory and for the happiness and just government of many millions of people. We favor his continuance in the high office in which Rock county has assisted in placing him, and we heartily congratulate him upon his approaching re-nomination and election.
4. We are republicans and we rejoice together in a common heritage of principles, of historic achievements for men and of ennobling traditions which have come down to us from preceding generations of patriotic citizens who have made up mainstays of and led our mighty party, and we now fearlessly prepare for a campaign, local, state and national, for the election of republicans to the offices which the people have created in order that they may have good government and secure the blessings of liberty to themselves and their posterity.

VERDICT GIVEN TO ALD. SCHMIDLEY

In Action for $100 Brought Against Him by Conger & Scott—An Unusual Case.

In the civil action of Conger & Scott vs. E. J. Schmidley tried in municipal court this morning the judge, on motion of the defendant's counsel, found a verdict for costs and attorney's fee amounting to $12.50 against plaintiff. The case was concerned with a piece of real estate which the plaintiffs secured permission to sell for the defendant on the condition that they should retain as a commission all money above $2,500 which they should receive for the property. Later the defendant in the action took the property out of their hands, on the grounds that the efforts to sell seemed to be unsuccessful and that the tenants who were renting the property were becoming uneasy and threatened to leave. Still later the owner himself sold the property and the consideration named in the deed was $2,600. Conger & Scott thereupon sued for the $100. It developed in the trial that the actual consideration was only $2,500, the larger figure being inserted in the instrument on request of the purchaser who bought on speculation.

JANESVILLE ALUMNI TO BE ORGANIZED

Forty or More Former Students of University Will Attend Jubilee in a Body.

Janesville alumni of the University of Wisconsin are to be organized, and an effort will be made to have them attend the jubilee exercises in Madison in a body. To this end a meeting has been called at the office of Dr. Q. O. Sutherland tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. There are about forty graduates and former students of the state university in Janesville at the present time and there is little doubt but that the city will be well represented at the celebration. Judge Dunwiddie and Dr. Sutherland have interested themselves in the plan for an organization will meet with an enthusiastic response. It is possible that steps will also be taken to organize a university association which will include alumni of institutions other than Wisconsin. Such a move would meet with much favor.

FORMAL OPENING COMES TONIGHT

NEW MYERS HOTEL OPENS WITH A BALL.

ELABORATE AFFAIR ARRANGED

Scene Will Be One of Much Beauty—Equipment of Hotel All That Could Be Asked For.

Resplendent in glittering lights, handsome flowers, dainty decorations and excellent music the New Myers hotel will throw its doors open to the public this evening with a grand opening reception and ball to which the elite of the city have been invited. It will be an evening long to be remembered and all the old stories of the house will be recalled by the guests as they come to the remodeled, refitted hotel which does honor to Janesville.

Elaborate Fittings
From top to bottom the hotel has been refitted and handsome new carpets which blend with the new paper on the walls and comfortable furniture standing in every corner make the hotel another structure from what it formerly was. The entrance tonight will be the Milwaukee street one and the guests will go up the wide stairway which is lined with electric light, to the parlor floor, where dressing rooms for the ladies and gentlemen have been arranged. Parlor D has been reserved for the ladies, to the left of the hall, and parlor E, on the right, for the gentlemen.

Reception Committee
The reception proper will begin at eight o'clock. The receiving committee, composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. David Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly, and Mrs. McNeil, will stand at the entrance of the parlor proper. The guests will pass along the receiving line and either then inspect the entire house, every room being opened for this purpose.

Dance at Nine
At nine the dancing will begin. Smith & Knoff's orchestra will furnish the dance music and will also give a complimentary concert during the reception. The big dining room floor has been waxed and made ready for the dancers and with inspiring music the scene should be a pretty one. The halls of the hotel will be decorated with palms and trailing vines and the parlor with cut roses. The ordinary dining room where the buffet lunch will be served will have a color scheme in which carnations and the principal part. This room is perhaps the most attractive and cheerful and the delicate finishing under the myriad of electric lights will be most pleasing. Lunch, consisting of fruit, salad, tongue, sandwiches, coffee, brick tea cream, and assorted cake, will be served in this room at eleven o'clock.

First Guests
The hotel will be opened for guests at six o'clock. The first bus will go to the evening train and the register will be opened to the public at six: twelve guests have already signified their intentions of signing the register at once. Breakfast, the first regular meal will be served in the morning and Manager Donnelly says that after that everything will run as though the hotel had been open a month.

Able Assistants
Behind the desk in the office Henry B. Angle will preside during the day and Fred Atwater will attend to the night work. Mrs. Velser of Milwaukee is the housekeeper and Miss Lee of Rockford the head waitress in the dining room where she will preside over eight girls. The chef is Harry Ball, who has worked in the Pilster and Plankington in Milwaukee, and in the Grand Pacific in Chicago. The new proprietors are Mr. Donnelly and his sister, Mrs. McNeil. Mr. Donnelly will attend the hotel proper, the buying and general management, and Mrs. McNeil to the dining room, kitchen and a general supervision over all the interior work.

Many Guests
Miss Ada Donnelly and Miss Lou Brennan of Ashland have come as guests of Mr. Donnelly and Mrs. McNeil for the opening. Present indications point to a most successful opening. It is expected that fully seven hundred of the invited guests will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the opening and enjoying a dance in the dining room made historic by the number of noted personages who have attended similar dances in the old days.

Deserve Credit
Mr. Donnelly and his sister, Mrs. McNeil, deserve much credit for the work they have done in refitting the hotel. Money has not been spared to make the hotel first-class and Mrs. McNeil's taste in selection of decorations and arranging the house is very noticeable. The house is as clean as wax and the dainty fittings for the bed rooms and excellent beds should make the hotel famous through southern Wisconsin.

CHAPTER VII.

THE next morning my duty led me directly in the way of that little friend of mine whom I have already mentioned. It is strange how often my duty led me in her way.

She is a demure little creature, with eyes as bright as her eyes, which is saying a great deal, and while in the course of our long friendship I had admired without making use of the special abilities I saw in her, I felt that the time had now come when they might prove of inestimable value to me.

Greeting her with pardonable abruptness, I expressed my wishes in these possibly alarming words:

"Jenny, you can do something for me. Find out—I know you can, and that, too, without arousing suspicion or compromising either of us—where Mr. Moore of Waverley avenue buys his groceries, and when you have done that, whether or not he has lately resupplied himself with candles."

Jenny aids the detective

The surprise which she showed had a touch of malice in it which was very encouraging.

"Mr. Moore," she cried, "the uncle of her who—"

"The very same," I responded and waited for her questions without adding a single word in way of explanation.

She gave me a look—oh, what a look! It was as encouraging to the detective as it was welcome to the lover, after which she nodded, once in doubt, once in question and once in frank and laughing consent, and darted off.

I thanked Providence for such a self-contained little aid-camp and proceeded on my way in a state of great self-satisfaction.

An hour later I came upon her again. It is really extraordinary how frequently the paths of some people cross.

"Well?" I asked.

"Mr. Moore deals with Simpkins, just two blocks away from his house, and only a week ago he bought some candles there."

I rewarded her with a smile which summoned into view the most exasperating of dimples.

"You had better patronize Simpkins yourself for a little while," I suggested, and by the archness with which my words were received I perceived that my meaning was fully understood.

Experiencing from this moment an increased confidence, not only in the powers of my little friend, but in the line of investigation thus happily established, I cast about for means of settling the one great question which was a necessary preliminary to all future action—whether the marks detected by me in the dust of the mantel in the southwest chamber had been made by the hand of him who had lately felt the need of candles, albeit his house appeared to be fully lighted by gas?

The point aimed at was this: To obtain without Mr. Moore's knowledge an accurate impression of his finger tips.

The task presented difficulties, but these served only to increase my ardor. Confronted by the stentorian of the precinct my great interest in the mysterious house with whose suggestive interior I had made myself acquainted under such tragic circumstances, I asked him as a personal favor to obtain for me an opportunity of spending another night there. He was evidently surprised by the request, and being, as I have intimated, favorably disposed to me, he exerted himself to such good effect that I was formally detailed to assist in keeping watch over the premises that very night.

As I prepared to enter the old house at nightfall I allowed myself one short

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Mueller, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '03, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 29 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.

Nothing was to be seen there but the marks left by the removal of its base from the blackened boards. Disgusted with myself if not with this object of my present disappointment, I left that portion of the room in which it stood and crossed to where I had found the little table on the night of Mrs. Jeffrey's death. It was no longer there. It had been set back against the wall, where it properly belonged, and the candlestick removed.

THE PERPETUAL WAR

There is always a fight going on in every human body between health and disease. On one side are poor food, bad air, over-work, worry, colds, accidents. On the other are sunshine, rest, cheerfulness and nourishment.

The reason Scott's Emulsion fights so powerfully for health is because it gives so much more nourishment than you can get in any other way. Get in the sunlight and try Scott's Emulsion.

to be seen near the bookshelves. This fact, small as it was, caused me an instant of alarm. I had intended to look again at the book which I had examined with such unsatisfactory results the time before. A glance showed me that this book had been pushed back level with the others. But I remembered its title, and had the means of reaching it been at hand I should certainly have stolen another peep at it.

Upstairs I found the same signs of police interference. The shutter had been fastened in the southwest room and the bouquet and wrap taken away from the bed. The handkerchief also was missing from the mantel where I had left it, and when I opened the closet door it was to find the floor bare and the second candlestick and candle removed.

"All gone," thought I—"each and every clue."

But I was mistaken. In another moment I came upon the minute filings I had before observed scattered over a small stand. Concluding from this that they had been passed over by Durbin and his associates as valueless, I swept them, together with the dust in which they lay, into an old envelope I happily found in my pocket. Then I crossed to the mantel and made a close inspection of its now empty shelf.

The scratches which I had made there were visible enough, but the impressions for which they stood had vanished in the handling which everything in the house had undergone. Regarding with great thankfulness the result of my own foresight, I made haste to leave the room. I then proceeded to take my first steps in the ticklish experiment by which I hoped to determine whether Uncle David had had any share in the fatal business which had rendered the two rooms I had just visited so memorable.

First satisfying myself by a peep through the front drawing room window that he was positively at watch behind the vines, I went directly to the kitchen, procured a chair and carried it into the library, where I put it to a use that to an onlooker's eye would have appeared very peculiar. Planting it squarely on the hearthstone—not without some secret perturbation as to what the results might be to myself—I mounted it and took down the engraving which I have already described as hanging over this mantelpiece.

Setting it on end against one of the jambs of the fireplace, I mounted the chair once more and carefully sifted over the high shelf the contents of a little package which I had brought with me for this purpose.

Then, leaving the chair where it was, I betook myself out of the front door, ostentatiously stopping to lock it and to put the key in my pocket.

Crossing immediately to Mr. Moore's side of the street, I encountered him, as I had expected to do, at his own gateway.

"Well, what now?" he inquired, with the same exaggerated courtesy I had noticed in him on a previous occasion. "You have the air of a man bringing news. Has anything fresh happened in the old house?"

I assumed a frankness which seemed to impose on him.

"Do you know," I sententiously informed him, "I have a wonderful interest in that old hearthstone, or, rather, in the seemingly innocent engraving hanging over it of Benjamin Franklin at the court of France. I tell you frankly that I had no idea of what would be found behind the picture."

I saw by his quick look that I had stirred up a hornet's nest. This was just what I had calculated to do.

"Behind it?" he repeated. "There is nothing behind it."

I shrugged my shoulders and backed slowly toward the door.

"Of course you should know," I retorted with some condescension. Then as if struck by a sudden remembrance: "Oh, by the way, have you been told that there is a window on that floor which does not stay fastened? I speak of it that you may have it repaired as soon as the police vacate. It's the last and in the hall leading to the negro quarters. If you shake it hard enough, the catch falls back, and any one can raise it even from the outside."

"I will see to it," he replied, dropping his eyes, possibly to hide their curious twinkle. "But what do you mean about finding something in the wall behind that old picture? I've never heard—"

But, though he spoke quickly and shouted the last words after me at the top of his voice, I was by this time too far away to respond save by a dubious smile and a semipronouncing wave of the hand. Not until I was nearly out of earshot did I venture to shout back the following words:

"I'll be back in an hour. If anything happens, if the boys annoy you or any one attempts to enter the old house, telephone to the station or summon the officer at the corner. I don't believe any harm will come from leaving the place to itself for awhile." Then I walked around the block.

When I arrived in front again it was quite dark. So was the house, but there was light in the library. I felt assured that I should find Uncle David there, and I did. When after a noiseless entrance and a careful advance through the hall I threw open the door beyond the gilded pillars it was to see the tall figure of this old man mounted upon the chair I had left there peering up at the nail from which I had so lately lifted the picture. He started as I presented myself and almost fell from the chair. But the careless laugh I uttered assured him of the little importance I placed upon this evidence of his daring and unappeasable curiosity, and he confronted me with an enviable air of dignity, whereupon I managed to say:

"Really, Mr. Moore, I'm glad to see you here. It is quite natural for you to wish to learn by any means in your power what that picture concealed. I came back because I suddenly remembered that I had forgotten to relight it."

Involuntarily he glanced again at the wall overhead, which was as bare as his hand save for the nail he had already examined.

"It has concealed nothing," he retorted. "You can see yourself that the wall is bare and that it rings an sound as any chimney piece ever made." Here he struck it heavily with his fist. "What did you imagine that you had found?"

A Test.

The telephone bell in an uptown residence rang a few evenings ago and a young woman, who was expecting a call, rushed to answer, being sure that one of her admirers had called her up.

"Is this—?" demanded a voice, repeating the number of the phone in question.

"Yes," replied the girl.

"Well," continued the voice, "we are testing the wire. Will you please draw a long breath and say, very plainly, 'I will be good.'"

She obeyed. "I will be good," she said.

"A little slower, and a little more distinctly, now, please."

"I will be good," said the young woman trying her best.

"No, that's not 'right at all,' corrected the voice. "We must fix that wire, I guess. Now, make one extra effort and say it again, and this time clearly, your breath, 'I will be good.'"

"You will, will you?" laughed the voice. "Well, I'm glad to hear you say so. You were decidedly unpleasant the last time I called."

And just then the man at the other end of the wire "rang off."

Now the young woman is trying to discover just which of her admirers played such a detestable joke on her.—Philadelphia Press.

ORIGINAL SIGNER IS PRESENT

Man Whose Name Appeared on First Call Fifty Years Ago Heads the Summons to the Meeting—Important Questions to Be Settled.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 12.—Twelve hundred delegates from nearly fifty states and provinces had registered before the opening of the first session of the international convention of the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon.

Just fifty years ago thirty-seven men, representing twenty-one associations, gathered in Buffalo for the purpose of organizing a federation to promote the interests of the Young Men's Christian association. To celebrate the achievements of a half century, and to note the progress from that first meeting is one of the chief purposes of the present convention.

Oscar Cobb, who signed the call for the original convention, is still living in Buffalo, and his name heads the list of signers to the call for the present convention. Questions affecting the policy of the organization will come up for discussion and settlement. A committee of twenty-one prominent business men, representing all sections of the country, were appointed three years ago to study the question and report to this convention. Cyrus H. McCormick of Chicago is chairman of this committee.

Important Questions.
The Committee will present two reports, a majority signed by thirteen and a minority signed by eight members. The entire sessions of Thursday afternoon and Friday morning are to be set aside for discussion of these reports. The following important questions are involved:

Is the international committee becoming so centralized that the rights of the local associations are abridged? Have the state organizations a fair share of the work of supervision in their own fields?

Shall the international committee have priority over state committees in the supervision of interstate railroad work?

Each report has strong supporters, while there is evidence that a goodly number favor a compromise.

A show of relative strength was made in connection with a vote on whether the delegates should be seated in conventions according to states or be seated as representatives of local associations without regard to state affiliations. The vote showed the friends of the minority report slightly stronger.

The Illinois delegation, sixty strong, under the leadership of State Secretary J. E. Brown, is strongly in sympathy with the minority report.

Some of the men who will be heard in debate are Edwin Burritt Smith and Dr. Ira Landrith of Chicago, Judge Sheldon P. Spencer of St. Louis, H. E. Rosevear of Kentucky, F. E. Sicks of Buffalo, and Jennings of Pittsburg.

Convention President.
At the afternoon session H. B. F. MacFarland, commissioner of the District of Columbia, was elected permanent president of the convention. H. W. Stone of Portland, Ore., was elected secretary. Addresses of welcome were made by H. H. Bingham, member of the board of councilmen, representing the mayor of Buffalo; the Rev. H. B. Masters, on behalf of the churches of Buffalo, and Mr. J. J. McWilliams, on behalf of the Buffalo association.

The triennial report of the international committee, presented by Dr. Lucien P. Warner of New York, showed 1,800 associations, enrolling 250,000 members.

Wednesday evening a banquet was given in the convention hall at which over 1,400 delegates sat down.
